CITY OF ST. ALBERT INTERNATIONAL CITY OF PEACE

Building Peace Through Service, Dialogue, Collaboration and community Action

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The City of St. Albert International City of Peace Initiative is a collaborative movement dedicated to fostering a culture of peace, inclusion, reconciliation, wellbeing, resilience, and sustainable prosperity for all residents.

The city of St. Albert is a vibrant and growing community known for its strong quality of life, rich heritage, active civic life, parks, trails, arts, culture, and community service. Rooted in a history of connection and situated along the Sturgeon River valley, St. Albert is well positioned to advance peacebuilding through dialogue, youth engagement, reconciliation, inclusion, service, and collaboration.

The initiative is supported by the Rotary Club of St. Albert, a long-standing community service organization guided by Rotary's motto of Service Above Self. For more than three decades, the club has contributed to the community through volunteer service, youth programs, scholarships, food security support, accessibility and inclusion initiatives, community recognition programs, Rotary Youth Exchange, and major community impact projects such as its support for AdaptAbilities' expansion into St. Albert and Sturgeon County.

Grounded in the principles of International Cities of Peace, Rotary International's Peacebuilding and Conflict Prevention Area of Focus, and the Rotary Peace Action Group, this initiative brings together residents, businesses, educators, faith groups, community organizations, service clubs, and municipal leaders around a shared commitment to building peace through service, dialogue, collaboration, and community action.

This Strategic Plan provides the foundation for St. Albert's application to the International Cities of Peace network and demonstrates a community commitment to advancing peace through shared vision, partnership, and action. It will also serve as a guiding framework for the City of Peace initiative, supporting implementation, sustainability, and ongoing community engagement.

Sincerely,

Darija Slokar

1. PURPOSE OF THE INITIATIVE

The St. Albert International City of Peace Initiative turns the community's commitment to peace into practical action by strengthening belonging, reconciliation, youth leadership, wellbeing, and sustainable partnerships.

Inspired by Rotary's commitment to Service Above Self, the initiative recognizes service, dialogue, collaboration, and compassionate leadership as pathways to a more peaceful, inclusive, and connected St. Albert.

Through collective action, the initiative seeks to foster understanding, strengthen relationships, and create lasting positive impact for present and future generations.

2. ABOUT THE CITY OF ST. ALBERT

The City of St. Albert is a vibrant and growing community located northwest of Edmonton in Alberta's capital region. Home to approximately 74,730 residents, St. Albert is recognized for its strong quality of life, rich heritage, active civic life, and deep connection to parks, trails, arts, culture, and community service.

Founded in 1861 as a Métis settlement by Father Albert Lacombe, St. Albert has a long and meaningful history rooted in community, faith, culture, and connection to the Sturgeon River valley. Today, the city continues to honour its heritage while growing as an inclusive, family-oriented, and community-minded urban centre.

St. Albert is known as one of Alberta's most beautiful communities, with extensive parks, more than 85 kilometres of trails, and approximately 1,100 acres of green space. These natural and public gathering spaces support wellbeing, connection, recreation, and a strong sense of belonging among residents.

The city also has a strong cultural and civic identity, with St. Albert Place serving as a central hub for municipal, cultural, artistic, and community activity. Together with its schools, service clubs, community organizations, cultural groups, businesses, faith communities, and engaged residents, St. Albert is well positioned to advance peacebuilding through service, dialogue, reconciliation, youth engagement, inclusion, and collaboration.

6. CURRENT PEACEBUILDING WORK ALIGNED WITH STRATEGIC PRIORITIES

The St. Albert International City of Peace Initiative builds on peacebuilding work already underway through the Rotary Club of St. Albert Peace Action Group. These initiatives demonstrate a practical, community-based commitment to peace through education, youth engagement, reconciliation, public awareness, service, visible peace actions, and sustainable community partnerships.

Organizing the current work under the strategic priorities shows how existing initiatives directly support the broader vision for St. Albert as an International City of Peace. It also demonstrates that the initiative is grounded in real action, community leadership, and long-term commitment.

Priority 1: Connect and Empower Community

This priority focuses on strengthening belonging, participation, leadership, and connection across the community. Current initiatives under this priority help bring people together, create opportunities for shared participation, and make peace visible in everyday community life.

1. International Peace Day Event

The International Peace Day Event recognizes International Peace Day in St. Albert through a community gathering at Rotary Park and Peace Pledge. The event includes participation from other service groups, music, dance, food, and opportunities for community connection.

This initiative supports community connection by creating a visible and welcoming public celebration of peace. It brings residents together around shared values of service, dialogue, belonging, and wellbeing.

2. Visible Peace Installations

Visible peace installations, such as the Peace Pole, provide public symbols of peace, inclusion, and shared community commitment. The Peace Pole initiative has been approved, with next steps including coordination with the City and completion of required installation requirements.

These installations help make peace visible in the community and create opportunities for reflection, education, celebration, and public awareness. Installation may be aligned with International Peace Day to create a meaningful community moment.

3. Peacebuilding and Understanding Week Proclamation

The Peace Week Proclamation recognizes the week of Rotary International Day as Peacebuilding and Understanding Week. This initiative includes presentation of the proclamation by the Mayor of the City of St. Albert during the Community Paul Harris Event, an event that recognizes community members for their contribution to the community.

In 2026, the initiative also included lighting City Hall in white and blue to recognize Peace and Understanding Week. This public recognition helps raise awareness and visibility of peacebuilding in the community.

Priority 2: Advance Peacebuilding, Reconciliation, and Wellbeing

This priority focuses on promoting healing, understanding, safety, resilience, reconciliation, and wellbeing through education, dialogue, creative expression, and community support. Current initiatives under this priority create learning opportunities for children, youth, and the broader community.

1. Rotary Youth Exchange Program

Rotary Youth Exchange promotes peace through intercultural understanding, youth leadership, and global friendship. By learning from different cultures and communities, students become ambassadors for dialogue, respect, and peace.

2. Peace Literacy Program

The Peace Literacy Program introduces elementary school children to the concepts of peace, inclusion, belonging, and kindness through reading, discussion, and creative card making. Students read All Are Welcome, participate in a conversation about what peace means and how everyone can contribute to it, and create a card to take home.

This initiative supports early peace education by helping children understand respect, inclusion, and their own role in building peaceful communities. Sessions are planned to align with Peace and Understanding Week in February and International Peace Day in September.

3. Youth Peace Literacy and Leadership

The Youth Peace literacy and leadership initiative engages youth in facilitated conversations about positive peace and how young people can contribute to inclusive, respectful, and supportive communities. Youth are invited to express their understanding of peace through creative art forms such as writing, painting, drawing, pottery, music, dance, or other forms of expression.

The program connects peacebuilding education with youth voice and creativity. Artwork created through the workshops may be displayed at City Hall during Culture Days, providing a public platform for youth perspectives on peace.

Priority 3: Build Sustainable Peace Partnerships and Leadership

This priority focuses on creating the partnerships, leadership structures, resources, and accountability needed to sustain long-term peacebuilding impact. Current initiatives under this priority help ensure that peacebuilding work is organized, supported, and positioned for continued growth.

1. City of Peace Initiative

The City of Peace Initiative is focused on preparing St. Albert to apply for recognition as an International City of Peace. Current work includes developing a strategic plan, preparing for the application process, and planning for future celebration and public recognition.

This initiative brings together the Peace Action Group's existing work into a broader community vision, positioning St. Albert as a city committed to peace through service, dialogue, reconciliation, inclusion, youth leadership, and sustainable partnerships.

2. Fundraising, Grants, and Community Support

The Peace Action Group undertakes fundraising, grant applications, and community engagement activities to support the delivery of peacebuilding programs. Sources such as St. Albert Culture Days funding, card-making workshops and sales, peace-themed merchandise, and community-based fundraising help generate resources for peace literacy, youth workshops, public awareness, visible peace installations, and other local peace initiatives.

These activities strengthen sustainability by engaging residents in creative, service-based ways while helping ensure that peacebuilding programs can continue over time.

3. Peace Action Group Workplan and Leadership

The Peace Action Group Workplan provides an organizing structure for current and future peacebuilding activities. It identifies initiatives, timelines, and responsibilities, supporting accountability and coordinated implementation.

This ongoing planning process strengthens leadership, partnership development, and long-term sustainability for the City of Peace initiative.

7. COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT, PARTNERSHIPS, AND MEASUREMENT

The City of St. Albert International City of Peace Initiative will be advanced through community engagement, partnership development, and practical measurement. Peacebuilding is most effective when it reflects the voices, strengths, and contributions of the whole community.

The initiative will seek participation from residents, Indigenous communities, youth, schools, service clubs, cultural groups, faith communities, businesses, nonprofit organizations, municipal representatives, and community leaders. Collaboration with municipal government will continue to be important to support public awareness, community participation, civic recognition, and alignment with St. Albert's broader commitment to inclusion, wellbeing, and quality of life.

Engagement will include community conversations, public events, youth activities, school partnerships, intercultural and interfaith dialogue, Indigenous learning opportunities, and collaboration with organizations that share a commitment to peace, inclusion, reconciliation, wellbeing, and service.

Progress will be measured through simple and meaningful indicators, including:

Area	Example Measures
Community Engagement	Participation in events, dialogues, and activities
Youth Leadership	Youth involved in workshops, art projects, exchange, and leadership opportunities
Peace Education	Peace literacy sessions, workshops, and school partnerships
Reconciliation and Inclusion	Indigenous learning, intercultural, and interfaith activities
Public Awareness	Proclamations, peace installations, media, and outreach
Partnerships	Community partners, service clubs, schools, businesses, and organizations engaged
Sustainability	Funding, grants, sponsorships, volunteer hours, and in-kind support

A simple annual progress update will summarize activities completed, partners involved, residents and youth engaged, resources secured, lessons learned, and priorities for the following year. This will support accountability, continuous improvement, and St. Albert's application to the International Cities of Peace network.

8. IMPLEMENTATION TIMELINE

Phase	Timeline	Focus
Phase 1	2025–2026	Build foundation, partnerships, education and literacy programs, peace celebration, peace pole installation and peace week proclamation.
Phase 2	2026–2027	Submit ICP application, expand youth and community initiatives.
Phase 3	2027 onward	Sustain partnerships, annual reporting, community peace events.

9. CLOSING STATEMENT

The City of St. Albert International City of Peace Initiative brings together a clear strategic plan, meaningful peacebuilding initiatives, some already in progress, broad community engagement, and a shared commitment to pursuing recognition as an International City of Peace.

Together, the strategic priorities, current initiatives, partnerships, and measurement approach demonstrate that St. Albert is actively building a foundation for peace through community connection, peace education, youth engagement, reconciliation, public awareness, visible peace actions, sustainable partnerships, service, and accountability.

This work shows that the application for International City of Peace recognition is not simply symbolic. This work is grounded in existing action, community leadership, municipal collaboration, ongoing engagement, and a long-term vision for a more compassionate, inclusive, resilient, and peaceful St. Albert.
