

ICP SKILLS DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM™

With ICP Valued Providers™ (VPs) and Online Training

The ICP Leadership Skills Program™ is intended to provide free opportunities for the Liaisons and Team Members of Cities of Peace to acquire training in specialized areas. Training, workshops, classes, etc. are to be provided free of charge and a Certificate of Completion must be issued to the attendee.

An ICP Value Provider™ (VP) designation is for those consultants and organizations who wish to become an important part of the Cities of Peace Movement toward a culture of peace. Valued Providers (VPs) are acknowledged by the Executive Director of International Cities of Peace for their expertise in a range of skills training.

How to Become a Valued Provider

Potential suppliers and trainers must submit credentials and program specifics to International Cities of Peace in order to earn the title of Valued Provider (VP). Usually, a Provider provides a successful history of skills training in regards to City of Peace members. As an altruistic effort, VPs receive no compensation from International Cities of Peace or individual Cities of Peace.

The Official Valued Provider (VP) Logo

The skills provider can use the official VP logo on promotional materials and social media for one year, renewable through the Executive Director. However the VP is not authorized to use the official International Cities of Peace Logo. This ensures a distance between the Association and the Skills Provider in terms of liability.

Example of Valued Providers (VPs) associated with ICP:

- Brian and Lisa Berman, Liaisons for the City of Peace in Ojai, California offer free workshops and conferences as an outgrowth of their organization Awakening Peace.

A sampling of free skills training possibilities:

- Entrepreneurial skills • Skills in Conflict Resolution • Community safety • Agile Framework teams • Other skills relating to safety, prosperity, and quality of life issues
